

Ginger Reeves is the Director of Real Estate Services for the Cherokee Nation. She has served her tribe since 1998 in other capacities, including Government Relations Officer and Human Resources Administrator. She was born and raised in Stilwell, Oklahoma. She graduated from Northeastern State University with degrees in Criminal Justice and Human Ecology. Her professional career has included nearly 20 years as a paralegal before working with her tribe. She has served on several local and state boards representing her community and the Cherokee Nation. She has one daughter, Finessa, who attends Northeastern State University. Ginger and her husband Jeff reside in Tahlequah.